Science & Practice Perspectives is published twice yearly to promote dialogue between researchers and providers with the aim of improving drug abuse treatment and research.

Perspectives obtains articles through reader submissions and editorial commissioning. Readers may send brief letters proposing articles that will be of interest and value to both researchers and practitioners. Final acceptance of submitted articles is contingent upon editorial judgment that it is suitable for publication in a NIDA journal and the results of peer review. Send letters to Managing Editor, Science & Practice Perspectives at the address below.

Perspectives is a publication of the National Institute on Drug Abuse, National Institutes of Health. Except for material specifically identified as copyrighted, all materials appearing in Science & Practice Perspectives are in the public domain and may be reproduced without permission. Citation of the source is appreciated.

Special thanks to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration for its generous, invaluable contributions to the coverage of clinical issues and viewpoints in Perspectives.
